

Gulley Reports Summer Plans

As this spring term at Pacific College closes, reports from the President's office show that various plans are being made to improve the campus and college during the coming summer.

Research Laboratory Underway

Don Dodd, research chemist on Pacific College campus, will continue his work during the summer months. The first orders for his product, synthetic adrenalin, have been made. As yet Mr. Dodd has been arranging the laboratory on the campus to begin his work. When production actually begins, it is hoped that it will soon expand to an industrial scale.

Plans Made to Repair Wood-Mar

Plans are being made to do further redecoration in Wood-Mar Hall during the summer months, Pres. Gulley said last week. Most of the work will be done on the auditorium, where the walls, ceiling, floors, and woodwork will be refinished. A new floor will be laid on the stage.

A new roof on the building and hardwood floors and refinished walls and ceilings in most of the rooms were projects accomplished last year.

GOLD P CLUB ELECTS DON BRASH PRESIDENT

Don Brash was elected president of the Gold P club in elections held last week. Other officers elected were: Orrin Ogier, Vice president and Everett Craven, Secretary-treasurer.

Club president announces that the Gold P pins for the new members have been distributed. The club finishes its year with more money coming in to add to the gym fund. The club has been sponsoring part of the drive for funds for the new gymnasium.

Students Attend Yearly Meeting

Many Pacific College students will remain in Newberg after commencement to attend Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends held June 6 to 11. Students will participate in various phases of the meeting, particularly in furnishing special music.

Many representatives will be present from Washington and Idaho, as well as various places in Oregon, and will be housed in the college dormitories and in Newberg homes.

Night meetings to which the public is invited will be addressed by Ernest Lamb, general superintendent of California Yearly Meeting of Friends. Mr. Lamb is a former pastor of the Friends church in Pasadena, Calif.

The program for the meeting will include a meeting for worship at 8:00 each meeting, various board meetings and business meetings during the morning, with an inspirational meeting at 11:30 a. m. Business meetings and board meetings will occupy the afternoons and a meeting for worship will be held every evening at 8:00.

A special memorial service is being planned for Sunday, June 11, in memory of Helen Camack, Oregon Yearly Meeting missionary who died recently on the field in Bolivia.

Mrs. Brock Dixon and son, Gale, left Tuesday evening for Cambridge, Mass., where they will make their home for the summer with her husband, Ensign Dixon.

As I Look Back Upon It

As the last Crescent in the current Fern Nixon are the main articles came interested in looking over some of the Crescents published during the past year. In glancing at the headlines of each issue, I saw that many interesting events have occurred around the campus this year. Like to be reminded of some of them?

October 18, 1943—Headlines say that the student organization predicts an active year, and that school opened with a lot of enthusiasm and spirit in students. President Gulley and Prof. Hoskins left for the East in the interest of the college and the freshmen were duly initiated.

"Brother Goose" Given Tonight

"Brother Goose," a hilarious three-act comedy by William Davidson, will be presented by the members of the Senior class as the feature of their class night program to be presented without charge this evening in Wood-Mar Hall. The program will begin promptly at 8:15.

The play has an intriguing plot centering around Jeff, "Brother Goose," played by Jack Willcuts, and his valiant efforts to keep the household running smoothly. The antics of his brother, Wes, played by Arthur Roberts, and two sisters, Carol (Irene Sieloff) and Hyacinth (Betty June Ruden) are enough to keep anyone's head in a whirl. Wes falls hard for the ty Ashwill, but finds many pitfalls in the pathway of true love. falls in the pathway of true love. The central plot involves a triangle with Jeff, the focus of attention from both Lenore Hudson (Doris Manning), who has just inherited a million dollars, and Peggy Winkel (Mary Lou Kohler), hosiery saleswoman. Lenore's millions are not enough to counteract the superior tactics of the "Winkel plan" aided by Hy's active connivance. Amusing by-play is added by Helen, the ex-housekeeper, played by Mary Frances Nordyke, Sarah, the colored maid, portrayed by Alice Booth, and a truck driver (Mahlon Macy). Previewers proclaim this one of the most amusing plays to come to Newberg for many years.

In addition to the play, other forms of entertainment have been added to the program. The traditional class will, presented by the senior class, the class prophecy, given by the juniors, and special awards will be presented. Of most interest among these latter will be the Wood-Mar Award given to the student from each class with the highest scholastic rating.

First Year-end Events Held Friday and Sunday

The opening event of the commencement week activities was the faculty music recital given Friday evening, June 2, at 8:00 o'clock in the Newberg Friends church.

Mrs. R. B. Rhea, McMinnville, presented three piano numbers and joined Herschel Thornburg in a piano-organ duet. Mrs. Mildred Colcord sang two solos. These instructors were assisted by two students, Terrell Repp, who played a violin solo, and Everett Craven, who offered a trumpet number. The college choir sang two negro spirituals.

Two events were scheduled on Sunday. The closing service of the College Christian Union was held Sunday morning at 11:00 in the Friends church. Special music was provided by the college trio and the college quartet. Prof. George H. Moore brought the message. The time of this service was changed to the morning hour to avoid conflict with the high school baccalaureate.

The college baccalaureate service was held at 3:00 p. m. in the Friends church. President Emmett W. Gulley gave the sermon. Friends of the graduates were given an opportunity to meet the members of the class at a reception held at Canyon Hall following the baccalaureate service.

The Hinshaw Memorial Library awaits the close of the war to be made a reality. Two-thirds of the necessary funds for the building of this library are now on hand.

Congratulations, Seniors!

Congratulations, seniors! You will have completed another part of your life, your four years of college. Some of you may continue your study by taking graduate work. Others of you may enter the vocational field of your choice. Others of you will perhaps be doing something new and different which will be interesting and constructive. Whatever you may do now, you will have behind you four years which may mean the success or failure in whatever you do next. So, you are to be congratulated.

Pacific College students will miss this active group of seniors next year. They have been looked to as having several distinctions other classes cannot boast. The largest group ever to graduate from Pacific College is no small honor, and being nearly the largest class in school all year has held some weight with other students. The high percentage of married members in the class has been of considerable interest to other students in predicting the future of their classes.

The class gift to the school has shown other students the real interest the class has in the college. In years to come this class will be remembered as the park east of Canyon Hall is finished and the new fireplace is made use of. Their efforts and work put in on this projects will be much appreciated by those who will be able to enjoy it in the future.

Another proof of the enthusiasm and pep possessed by the "class of '44" is found in the way they are working on a three-act play to entertain students and friends on their own class night. Students will appreciate this last glimpse of the seniors before they march in commencement morning wearing the traditional caps and gowns and receive their degrees from President Gulley.

The senior class has provided many of the student leaders in the year '43-'44. Student body president, Crescent Editor, L'Ami Editor and business and advertising managers, Y. M. and Y. W. presidents, and several other important student offices this past year were held by members of the senior class. Under-classmen are beginning to feel the responsibility given them as these able leaders hand their jobs over to other students.

Doubtless much more could be written about this swell bunch of students. But perhaps after this much it will suffice to say that the Crescent and its staff and the rest of the students in general join in wishing them the best of luck and happiness in a rosy and successful future.

Nice Work, L'Ami Editors

The L'Ami is out! Students have taken them eagerly to get autographs in them and see all the familiar pictures which will become more valuable and cherished as this school year becomes past history.

Editing and publishing the L'Ami is no small job, and this year's editors, Gerry Tharrington and Betty June Ruden, are to be commended for the admirable job they have done. Students really appreciate the time and work the editors have done to make possible this year's annual.

MEET OUR GRADUATION CLASS

It would make an interesting journey to visit all the old home towns of our graduating class. Perhaps we may visit some of them in years to come, when they've all had memoriums erected in the home-town park in their honor—who may say? At least, here is a thumbnail sketch of each of them.

What Next?

What are you doing this summer? That phrase is fast becoming part of the campus' vocabulary. Some of us don't exactly know, but there are quite a few who do.

For instance, Viola Nixon says that she is going to California for three weeks, then back to home and work. (Hmm,hmm, wonder what California has that Oregon doesn't have?)

Driving a logging truck for C. D. Johnson Lumber Corporation in Siletz, Oregon, will occupy most of Don Brash's summer. (Have a notion to ask him how often he expects to get back to Newberg.)

Paul and Don Johnson, to mention two of the 4-D's, are still wondering just what Uncle Sam's next move will be. As far as they know, it means school for six weeks, and then, work.

Most of the Idahoans will in all probability spend their summer pitching hay and blocking beets. Develops muscles, anyway. And, oh, those Idaho farmers!

Don Bowers plans to return to Huntington, Washington, and take up the job of being an expeditor for Sears and Roebuck on the swing shift. Meanwhile, Naomi will be "slinging hash" at Naps. What you bet that she gets more letters than Frank Sinatra?

Donna Heacock will be making window sashes and screen doors at her father's wood working shop in Portland. Hope she can contrive some new doors for the Science Hall.

Portland and office work is Mickey Cole's schedule for the summer, or so she said. We have an idea that Newberg may figure in the picture too, don't you?

—And don't be surprised if Eleanor's a married woman by the end of the summer.

CLASS PROJECT

NEARLY FINISHED

The unique gift the senior class is leaving with the school this year—that of a park and fireplace east of Canyon Hall—has been nearly completed. The fireplace will soon be ready for use.

The class is leaving money with the college for planting to be done next year. Formal presentation of the gift will be made tonight, as a part of class night activities.

Mrs. Mahlon Macy left Thursday for a week's visit with her parents in Caldwell, Idaho.

Mrs. E. W. Ruden, of Bend, is the guest of Canyon Hall, commencement week, as is Mrs. M. Manning, of Roseburg, Oregon. Both are here for the graduation activities of their daughters, Betty June, and Doris, respectively.

Commencement will be held this year on June 6, at ten o'clock, in Wood-Mar Hall. Twenty students will receive their degrees.

Mardock, Bales Married June 3

Miss Elenita Mardock and George Bales were married last Saturday night at a wedding ceremony held at the Friends Church. Corl F. Miller united them; he was also the minister when Elenita's parents were married.

The bride looked lovely in her traditional white gown; it was made of rayon taffeta with ruffles at the neck and sleeves. The finger-tip veil had a seed pearl head-piece.

She came down the aisle on her father's arm, carrying a beautiful bouquet with a white orchid in the center.

Bernice Mardock, aunt of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a teal colored dress. Bridesmaids were Eleanor Fowler, Betty Ashwill, Lucille Walker, and Marie Barlow. All carried nose-gays and wore blue, pink, yellow and lavender, respectively. Billie Mardock, the bride's brother, was the ring bearer; Linda Fowler was the flower girl.

Eugene Rogers acted as best man and George Smith, Maynard Macy, Robert Seiloff, and Ralph Parker assisted as ushers. Florence Thomas and Kathleen Repp were the candle lighters.

The music lended beauty to the program as Irene Seiloff played a fifteen minute prelude. Pacific College girls' trio including Mary Frances Nordyke, Joyce Perisho, Betty Ann Craven, sang "At Dawning." Later Lloyd Cressman sang "Love Never Fails."

A reception held in the church basement where the friends of the bride and groom were allowed to greet the couple. Both are graduates of P. C. in the class of '43, and Bales is receiving his Th.B. degree this year.

1944 Yearbooks Arrive Last Friday Morning

Eager waiting for this year's L'Amis to arrive came to an end Friday, June 2, when the books came and co-editors, Betty June Ruden and Geraldine Tharrington, issued them to students in the student body office.

The yearbook this year is printed throughout in blue ink. It is separated into four divisions: administration, fall, winter, and spring. The cover features a picture of the administration building and one of the canyon bridge.

P. C. Leaders At Conferences

Idaho, Oregon, and Washington students at P. C. will be interested in knowing that there will be the regular conferences held this summer at Quaker Hill Wauna Mere, and Twin Rocks, for all age groups. The more the merrier.

With George Bales and Betty Ann Craven as recreational directors from Pacific, it is, without a doubt, that anyone attending from July 11-17 at the Quaker Hill Conference on the Payette Lakes will have a most enjoyable vacation.

Wauna Mere, located on Puget Sound, Washington, will have as its evangelist this year, our own representative from Pacific, Jack Willcuts.

Laura Traschel, a returned missionary from China, plans to attend all three conferences this summer and help out with the class work.

As yet, not all of the leaders and teachers have been obtained for our Twin Rocks Conference near Rockaway, Oregon. But it is assured that the "good-time-was-enjoyed-by-all" will be the same as always in spite of the war and the shortage of men.

The Conference this year will be held from July 31-August 6. The following leaders have been selected:

Evangelist: Lloyd Cressman.
Registrars: Hazel Cooper, Esther May Moore, and Eleanor Swanson.

Recreational Directors: Arthur and Fern Roberts, Dorothy Martin, and Phillip Fendall.

Teachers: General Class—Jack Traschel; Explorers: Searching the Scriptures—Milo Ross; Crusaders: Bible Doctrine—Herman Macy; Kingdom Builders—Edgar Simms; Practical Quakerism—Dorwin Smith; Platform Manager—David Thomas; Nurse—Esthel White; Dining Hall Mgr.—Emil Swanson; Grounds Mgr.—Oscar Brown; D. V. B. S.—Virginia Willkins, Asst.—Barbara Magee; General Mgr.—Carl Miller.

The theme for the services is found in John 2:5—"Whatsoever He saith unto you; do it."

Students Get Sample of Visitation Technique

Pacific College students got a sample of what has been going on in various high schools in this vicinity in recent weeks when Prof. Lewis Hoskins and the male quartet gave them a typical chapel program, Monday, May 22.

The quartet, Herschel Thornburg, Paul Thornburg, George Bales and Everett Craven, sang several songs and played instrumental numbers. Herschel had the entire audience laughing with his novel pianologue, "Cy Plude." Herschel also entertained the group with a chalk talk. Prof. Hoskins gave the pep talk urging students to come to Pacific College and handed out pamphlets, "What's What About Your Future," for students to help distribute to interest other students in Pacific College.

The visitation groups have entertained in many high schools in this vicinity this spring.

Frosh Entertains Sophs With Hobo Banquet

The sophomore class was really thrilled upon receiving an invitation to a semi-formal banquet to be given by the frosh Tuesday, May 30, at Canyon Hall. The class of '46 dressed up in their best and were gleaming with anticipation by time for the banquet to begin.

Dinner was gracefully announced by the cook-waitress trio, Kathleen Repp, Betty June Ruden and Doris Manning, banging on kettles as they called, "Grub's on." From then on the Sophs had more surprises than ever. They found that they had stumbled into a bum's hideout and that it was a Bak Alie banquet being given in real style.

At the entrance a sign instructed guests to "Park Firearms Hyar." Walls were decorated with "Watch Yer Hats and Coats," "Plez don't Spit on the Floor," "No Loafin'," "No Dogs Allowd," and "Leave All Bags Outside." Sweet strains of "Roll Out the Barrel" were squeaked out by the Ally Cats, a unique orchestra whose members were Don Bowers, Everett Craven, Herschel Thornburg, Terrell Repp, and Roger Minthorne.

Tables for four were covered with newspapers, decorated with pop-bottles for candle holders, ribboned onions as place cards and center pieces of different varieties varying from frying pans filled with flowers to bedecked rusty horse shoes.

The menu was "right-in" with the whole theme and those who had their mouths set for fancy food were honored with baked beans served in tin cans, stew, potato chips, soda crackers, and coffee in tin cups. Ice cream was the dessert.

The whole freshman class was dressed to characterize their roles as bums. Everett Craven, the toastmaster, started the program in "right fancy-like style" by proposing a toast to the sophomore class, carried out by the waitresses bringing a piece of toast to each sophomore.

The entire program carried out the hobo theme, keeping the party in a hilarious hobo mood. Don Brash, president of the sophomore class, offered a toast, and Charlotte Macy and Don Johnson gave impromptu speeches; Evangeline Bumbarger, the celebrated "opri star" sang "Down at the Station Yard Early in the Morning," accompanied by the Ally Cats; Donna Heacock gave a reading, "Who Says I'm a Bum?"; Herschel Thornburg sang, unaccompanied, "At the Boarding House Where I Stayed."

The program was novel to say the least, and it isn't trite to say a good time was had by all.

Hoover House Campaign Success

The Hoover House Campaign comes to a successful close at Commencement time with only a very small amount not yet in. The campaign to raise $10,000 to purchase and remodel the house in Newberg in which Hoover lived when he was a student at Pacific Academy began several weeks ago.

The actual remodeling cannot be done until the war is over, says Pres. Gulley. Plans are being made to begin the collection of furniture for the house. Bert Brown Barker, vice-president of the University of Oregon, will be asked to help secure the furniture since he is interested in that field. The house will be open to the public after it has been remodeled.

Girls' Softball Season Closes

The Quakerettes ended the not uneventful season of softball tallying up two wins and a loss.

Aside from a black-eye, a bump on two heads, skinned up knees, sore muscles, and sprained fingers too numerous to mention, the girls suffered no casualties.

The first game played was a thrilling win from the Newberg High School team under the powerful pitching of Macy. Phipps was still on the campus to play that game but was destined to leave for Des Moines WAC training base before the season was completed.

The Quakerettes lost the return game with Newberg on the High School field by one point after a thrilling and tied game. Tharrington relieved Macy for two innings, but Macy came back and held down the Newberg team with her able pitching.

Since the fourth game was cancelled, the Quakerettes ended the season of playing by taking a one-point lead from the Lafayette girls at Lafayette.

The team consisted of: Catcher, Cole; Pitcher, Macy; first base, Roeberts; second, Perisho; third, Degner; Shortstops, Haworth and Nordyke; Fielders, Tharrington, Phipps, Craven. Substitutes, Heacock, Ruden, and Jones.

Gulley Tells Plans

For the first time in its history Pacific College offers a summer course to students. The course is designed primarily for ministerial students who are required to continue their studies.

The first two weeks of the period will be devoted to a course entitled "Boys' Work," to be taught by Edward Harmon. The first week will be an intensive study period, and will be followed by a week of practical application directing the boys' camp at Twin Rocks. The session will run from June 27 through July 21. Professor Lewis Hoskins will teach a course in the "Civilization of the Ancient World" and Professor Gervas Carey will teach "The Gospel of John."

Changes Made in Teaching Staff

The teaching staff at Pacific College will have made several changes by next fall. Prof. Hutchins, present Spanish and Sociology instructor, has resigned, as has Mrs. Marie Allen, Home Economics instructor. Replacements for these have not been made as yet.

Another new instructor will be the head of the music department, says Pres. Gulley. The selection for this position cannot yet be announced.

The intensive campaign to raise necessary funds to build the proposed Thomas W. Hester gymnasium at Pacific College is well under way as college is over this year. During the past two weeks Newberg merchants and business men have been solicited by faculty members. Friends and relatives of the Hesters will be solicited. Students themselves are raising over $1,000 to make the project feasible.

According to present plans, the old building, which has been condemned, will be torn down with volunteer and student aid, and the new structure built from salvaged and non-priority materials. The new gymnasium will be a memorial to Dr. T. W. Hester, long-time physician in Newberg, who served as president of the local board of managers of the college for many years. The new physical education plant will not only serve student needs, but will be made available to general community use as recreation facilities.

Plans had been made to construct the new building during the coming summer in order that it would be ready for use next fall, but building will not begin until the major part of the needed $10,000 is either paid or pledged, says Pres. Gulley.

S. C. U. Cabinet Plans for Fall

Final meeting of the cabinet of Pacific College Student Christian Union found the group making many plans for the beginning of school next fall.

The main problem facing the group has been the selection of a speaker for revival meetings and preparation for a religious emphasis week near the beginning of the fall term. Several suggestions were made for a speaker, and the names have been submitted to the administration for approval. Selection will not be announced until next fall. Plans are being made to conduct these special meetings during the first weeks of school if it is possible.

The cabinet named Mildred Hawthorth to be in charge of preparing Student Handbooks for Pacific College students to use next fall.

The last regular meeting of the Union was held Tuesday, May 23. At this meeting Charlotte Macy sang as a solo, "He Giveth More Grace," and the college girls' trio sang "Make Me Pure." Mahlon Macy spoke to students on the subject of Prayer.
